

Why the West hates Russia

Introduction

That the Western globalist elite hates Russia is undeniable. For years the media has been attacking Russia for all sorts of spurious reasons: the Russiagate US election hoax, the Skripal poisoning fake scandal, atrocities in Syria, the Ukraine conflict and so on. In every case a false narrative was constructed to get people to vilify Russia and Putin in particular.

The narrative is so ridiculous that it is beyond media bias and entering into the territory of farce. Even in the light of hard evidence proving the claim to be false, the Russian collusion in the election of Trump continued to be pushed.

The hatred for Russia is very odd given that the military threat from Russia is far reduced from the days of the USSR. Communism under Lenin, Stalin and Khrushchev posed a far more serious threat than the current regime, which today is essentially capitalist and nationalistic. The Cuban Missile Crisis of October 1962, for example, brought the East and West very close to nuclear Armageddon. Putin is by far the best statesman that Russia ever had, and more competent than most Western leaders.¹ He has stated that he wants peace with the West but also will not tolerate threats to his nation.

So why this elite hatred for Russia?

The answer is chiefly religious but also historic.

Jewish hatred based on historic events

The elite cabal is not fully controlled by Jews but it is a simple fact that many Zionist Jews have a disproportionate leadership role. Virtually all the central bankers are Jews. Most of the key financiers are Jews. The controllers of trade, such as of diamonds or gold, are Jews. NGO leaders like George Soros are Jews. Power players like Kissinger are Jews. A leading figure of the cabal is Lord Rothschild, who is a Jew.

Thus Jewish feelings have a predominant status with elite plans; which is why many of them are based upon Israel.²

Now Jews have long memories and harbour resentment. There are certain historical events that continue to make Jews feel hostile towards Russia.

Ending the Khazarian kingdom

I have explained before how Ashkenazi Jews (the majority) originate from the mass conversion of the Khazars to Judaism in the 8th century. This however, did not stop the wickedness of these warlike people, nor their violent excursions that caused havoc to European travel and stability. Their idolatry based upon phallic and serpent worship also continued which was a stench in the nostrils of European and Eastern leaders on their borders.

¹ For example he is head and shoulders above buffoons like Joe Biden, Kamala Harris, Nicola Sturgeon, Mark Drayford and Boris Johnson.

² For example, many recent illegal military excursions of the US and NATO, such as in Libya, Iraq, Syria, Yemen, were based upon establishing the Jewish Yinon Plan for a Greater Israel.

Eventually, it fell to the Kievan (Varangian)³ Russians to put the kingdom down in the 11th century and force the dispersion of, now Jewish, Khazarians into Europe and elsewhere. This is the beginning of the Ashkenazi tribe of Judaism; the majority faction in Jewry.

This is the first reason for Jews to hate Russia. [It is also why there is so much at stake in Ukraine.]⁴

Anti-Semitism in Russia

As so often happened in every European kingdom, the behaviour of Jews residing in foreign nations eventually led to such concern that they were banished. This also happened in Russia in the 19th century; such as the banishment from Moscow in 1891.

In addition to the usual sins (usury, sedition, antisocial behaviour, and accusations of child ritual murder) Jews had assassinated leaders and attempted other assassinations. The growing threat of Jewish sedition rising to provoke widespread civil unrest led to the expulsion of Jews by the Tsar and significant persecution. However, this was but the culmination of migration westwards. In addition the Pale of Settlement (1791) forbade Jews to migrate into the interior of Russia unless they converted to Russian Orthodoxy.⁵

Tsar Nicholas I had also ordered all Jewish males to be conscripted into the Russian army in 1827. Jews complained that they were used as cannon fodder, such as in the Crimean War. Conscripted Jews could not rise to officer ranks. Schools provided for Jews by taxes were led by Orthodox Christians and sought to influence Jewish children away from the Talmud. Tsar Alexander II, however, removed some anti-Semitic laws and allowed educated Jews to live outside the Pale, enabling commercial success.

Before the expulsion of 1891 there had been a series of pogroms.⁶ The first occurred in the Ukraine following the assassination of Alexander II in 1881,⁷ for which Jews were blamed (Jewish sources say falsely). After that, there were many pogroms throughout Russia, and Russian Jews began to emigrate to the USA and Western Europe giving their support to Herzl's Zionist campaign. Tsar Alexander III [1881-1894] increased the hostility towards Jews which led to mass migration westwards. After the revolution of 1905, anti-Semitic persecutions increased and Jews joined unions, protests and dissident groups. Zionism also exploded in Russia.

This Jewish dispersion led many wealthy Jews to settle in the West, predominately the US, Germany and Britain, where they gained positions of power and influence through their wealth. Rich Jews in Britain married their daughters off to aristocrats that had fallen on hard times thereby gaining titles. [The plot-line in the TV series Downton Abbey is an example of this.] However the Jews remaining in Russia suffered until the Bolshevik Revolution.

³ Scandinavian voyagers who travelled by land and up rivers into Russia in the 9th and 10th centuries AD, establishing the Rurik dynasty.

⁴ Khazaria lay within the confines of southern Ukraine, Crimea, part of South Russia and Kazakhstan. Some Ashkenazi Jews feel that this is their homeland.

⁵ Jews were allowed in the equivalent of Belarus, Lithuania, Moldova, Ukraine and east central Poland and parts of Latvia. This was the Pale (stake) of Settlement.

⁶ An attack approved or condoned by authority, frequently against religious, racial, or national minorities.

⁷ There had been what some say was a pogrom in 1821 after the death of the Greek Patriarch Gregory V of Constantinople.

The resentment caused by this continues to this day.

Torpedoing the prototype League of Nations

After the Napoleonic Wars the Rothschilds thought that the royal houses were too weary and too much in debt to resist plans for a league of nations, which they organised as the Congress of Vienna. However, the Tsar of Russia torpedoed the idea, which enraged Nathan Rothschild. As a result Nathan vowed that he or his descendants would destroy the Tsar and his entire family.⁸ This caused the Rothschilds to increase their financial stranglehold on nations.

The prophetic angle

Dispensationalism was sponsored by elite bankers for political purposes. This rogue theological system, which arose in the mid-19th century, favoured Israel and Jews in general and downplayed the role of the church in God's decree. This was in order to develop sympathy in America for a Jewish homeland in Palestine. In this it succeeded as the majority Christian position today is to favour political Israel above all else, no matter what evils it conducts.

However, another facet of Dispensationalism is the demonisation of Russia. Dispensationalism was used as far back as the Crimean War to develop hatred for Russia because it was supposedly God's will to do so. Thus preachers raged against Russia using Dispensational arguments.

This is based upon an eschatology that centres on Jews and Israel in general (e.g. the kingdom is Jewish) and an end-time battle whereby Russia invades Israel from the north as the climax of the end times. Notice that neither Jesus nor the apostles ever made such a claim. The problems at the end, according to the NT, are centred in an antichristian world kingdom full of sin and idolatry that is opposed to the church and all things godly. This is symbolised as Babylon in character and the kingdom of the first Beast politically.

The claim that Russia invades Israel is taken from Ezekiel 38-39 and Rev 20:8.

In Revelation John tells us that Gog and Magog are nations in the four corners of the Earth – not Russia.

Now when the thousand years have expired, Satan will be released from his prison and will go out to deceive the nations which are in the four corners of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battle, whose number is as the sand of the sea. Rev 20:7-8

'Gog' means 'mountain' while 'Magog' means 'overtopping covering'. Josephus identifies Magog with the Scythians with Gog as their ruler (mountain).⁹ In the rabbinical writings Gog and Magog appear as the enemies of the Messiah. Augustine correctly refuses to narrow the imagery further and sees Magog as the final protest of the antichristian world against Christianity. This is the proper interpretation.

⁸ This was fulfilled after the Bolshevik Revolution. Lenin had the entire family of Tsar Nicholas murdered by Jewish assassins.

⁹ Ant. I. 6. 1.

As OT prophetic writing Ezekiel 38 must be interpreted in light of the facts that are clearly laid out by Christ and the apostles. We must not start with the prophetic but with what is clear. Thus there is no prophecy about Russia at the end. Does Ezekiel comply?

Ezekiel says, 'Son of man, set your face against Gog, of the land of Magog, the prince of Rosh, Meshech, and Tubal, and prophesy against him' (38:2). In Dispensation conjecture, Magog is the land north of Israel, Rosh refers to Russia and Meshech refers to Moscow. Thus Gog and Magog are identified as Russia.

Firstly, 'Rosh' is not found in the Hebrew text, which is why it isn't found in the KJV, Webster's, Revised Webster, NRS, or RSV. The text literally reads, 'Magog, captain/prince, head/chief, Mesech, Tubal'. 'Rosh' appears in the LXX, which is why some versions add this. So, there is no reference to Russia.

Mesech was a son of Japheth and the progenitor of people to the north of Israel. Not Russia per se.

Tubal was another son of Japheth whose land was in East Turkey, similar area to Cappadocia. Nowhere near Russia.

So even on the basis of Ezekiel alone there is no identification of Russia in this prophecy.

Furthermore, these enemies of the Lord are in alliance with many nations that include Persia, Gomer (Celts and Cimmeria), Ethiopia, Libya and Togarmah (Armenia or Scythia). Celts, Cimmeria, Togarmah and Scythia no longer exist as specific nations. Clearly we are talking about a symbolic global alliance in rebellion to God not specific nations. It is the world in sin opposed to the Messiah.

So the claims of Dispensationalism that the end-time enemy is Russia and the end-time hero is Israel have no foundation whatsoever. As with all elite plans, the truth is actually the opposite.

Since the elite spewed out the theology of Dispensationalism to further their own ends, the elite claims that Russia is the prophesied end-time enemy of God. But it is all a fabrication.

The big issue: the Russian Orthodox Church

This is the real point; Orthodox Christian Russia is the biggest stumbling block to the plans of the elite for the world. They have to break Russia and destroy Russian Orthodoxy before they can gain global domination. This is why they are currently sacrificing the economy of European nations, UK and America, in order to destabilise Russia (and failing miserably).

Christianity is the major target of Satan in the end times and conservative Russian Orthodoxy is the biggest and most powerful example of this in the world today because Western Protestants and Catholics have apostatised. Add to this the wealth, size and natural resources of Russia and you can see the threat to the cabal.

Russia under Christian control

This extended from the time of Vladimir I¹⁰ to the fall of the Romanovs.

After Vladimir accepted Christianity (like many Vikings before him)¹¹ the tone was set for the growing Christianisation of the Kievan Rus (Russia). Over time, Russia became a very devout nation based upon the Eastern Orthodox form of Christianity and gradually developing its own emphases and avoiding the corruption in certain Eastern Orthodox churches. When Catherine the Great married into the royal family she had to change her religion from Catholic to Orthodox, for example.

Russian Tsars were often very pious and this is certainly the case with the last Tsar Nicholas II [1868–1918], son of Alexander III, reigned 1894–1917. This was why Rasputin had so much influence in the royal family. [Aside: Grigori Rasputin has been falsely demonised as a result of the British Secret Service who controlled his assassination. He was a respected staretz: an elder in Russian Orthodoxy functioning as a spiritual advisor and teacher. Miracles were attributed to him.]

For over 1,000 years Russia was fundamentally controlled by Christian principles (this is not to excuse the sins of leaders and nobles).

Russia under Jewish control

The Rothschilds planned to destroy the Tsar, his family and the Russian church for many years. Their plans came to fruition when the Tsar was weakened by civil unrest and the disastrous effects of WWI and the Japanese War.

The revolutionary strategies of Lenin (part Jew), Trotsky (Jew), Kaganovich (Jew) and others were funded by the Rothschilds via America banks and the project was controlled by Jacob Schiff (Jew). Huge amounts of gold were transported by ship and rail. Trotsky took $20 million worth of gold on a ship owned by Schiff to meet Lenin in Switzerland. The Bolshevik Revolution was not really a civil war amongst Orthodox Russians but an invasion of non-Orthodox dissidents, mostly Jewish, imported into Russia plus internal dissidents (chiefly Jews). With Jewish money the Bolsheviks were able to take control of the country and later defeat the rearguard movement of the White (Christian) Russians.¹²

The new government of the USSR was established with Jews in prominent positions of leadership. Over 80% of the Cheka¹³ were Jews. The architects of the Ukraine Holodomor,

¹⁰ Vladimir I (956–1015), grand prince of Kiev 980–1015; known as Vladimir the Great; canonised as St Vladimir. His marriage to a sister of the Byzantine emperor Basil II resulted in his conversion to Christianity and in Christianity in Russia developing in close association with the Orthodox Church. Feast day, 15 July. [New Oxford Dictionary.]

¹¹ Such as Guthrum in Britain (East Anglia) or Rollo in Normandy. The Viking Rollo accepted Normandy in 912 as a fief (feudal land of a vassal to the king) from the French king, who was powerless to prevent its falling to the Vikings. 'Normandy' derives from those Norse (Northmen) invaders. They accepted Christianity and adopted the French language.

¹² White Russians: those who fought against the Soviet Red Army in the Russian Civil War (1918–21). The name was derived from the royalist opponents of the French Revolution, known as Whites, because they adopted the white flag of the French Bourbon dynasty. The White Army, though smaller than the Red, was better equipped and had an abundance of Tsarist officers, but they were defeated by internal quarrels and by their refusal to grant land reforms in the areas under their control.

¹³ Soviet secret police. An acronym for the All-Russian Extraordinary Commission for the Suppression of Counter-revolution and Sabotage, it was instituted by Lenin in 1917. In 1922 the CHEKA became the GPU or secret police and later the OGPU (United State Political Administration). The OGPU was replaced in 1934 by the NKVD. In 1953 the Soviet secret police was placed under the KGB (Committee of State Security).

which killed 10 million Kulaks, were Jews and led by a Jew (Genrikh Yagoda). Jews have gone to great lengths to disguise the fact that Communism is really a Jewish movement. 'One of the greatest difficulties of the Talmudic Pharisees has been that of bringing communism into power while trying to conceal its Talmudic origin'.¹⁴ The first law passed by the Bolshevik government was that anti-Semitism became a crime punishable by death.

Rabbis around the world celebrated the Communist take-over of Russia claiming that it was Talmudic. Its origin is in Marx, who was a Jew. Rabbi S Wiseman (or Rabbi Stephen 'Wise') stated, 'Some call it Marxism; I call it Judaism'.¹⁵ The Jewish Chronicle stated that, 'the ideals of Bolshevism are consonant with the finest ideals of Judaism'.¹⁶ The Jewish Voice affirmed that 'Anti-Communism is anti-Semitism'.¹⁷

Communism under Lenin and Stalin became terror. Lenin had deliberately instigated terror as the chief means to protect the revolution; which included beatings, torture, murder, rape, theft of property and so on. Prisons, like Moscow's Lubyanka, had torture chambers. For 70 years there was constant persecution of the church but no synagogue was ever burned. The means of terror were horrific, brutal tortures and murders, so sickening that I cannot describe them here. They are worse than medieval tortures. These are Talmudic in nature (where non-Jews are treated as cattle and not human beings).

The elite saw this as a prototype of the New World Order and sought from the start to take America into compliance with the collectivism and central planning of the USSR. This is made clear in the research of Norman Dodd and the Reece Report.¹⁸ The Cold War was largely a fiction to serve the interests of the elite cabal. Americans were constantly giving military secrets to the Russians, including nuclear research, while American engineering firms were heavily invested in Russian infrastructure; even servicing the ICBM silos.

Throughout the Communist era Russian Christians were decimated. Millions were tortured and murdered, tens of thousands were sent into Gulags in Siberia. Thousands of churches were burned to the ground. Priests, nuns and even choirboys were ruthlessly murdered and tortured. The chief enemy of the Jewish Communists was Christianity.

The Communist Party of the Soviet Union maintained firm control over the Soviet federation until the late 1980s, when pressures developed for greater independence. In 1990 a new constitution created a Russian Congress of People's Republics and a Russian Supreme Soviet, of which Boris Yeltsin was elected Chairman on a ticket of multi-party democracy and economic reform. In June 1991 he was elected President of the Federation. Following the disintegration of the Soviet Union and the resignation of President Gorbachev in December, Russia became an independent sovereign state. Russia formed a new body, the Commonwealth of Independent States (CIS), which most of the former Soviet republics joined.¹⁹

However, Russia entered a period of degeneration. There were tensions between autonomous republics, ethnic conflicts, the re-deployment of military forces, and a rapidly collapsing economy. Yeltsin was a puppet of the elite, which began to dismantle Russia's

¹⁴ Colonel Gordon 'Jack' Mohr; 'The Talmudic effect on Judeo-Christianity', website.

¹⁵ American Bulletin, 5 May 1935.

¹⁶ Ibid.

¹⁷ Jewish Voice, July-August (1941).

¹⁸ US Special Committee on Tax Exempt Foundations. Chaired by Carroll Reece (1954).

¹⁹ This paragraph adapted from Oxford World Encyclopaedia.

assets and steal her wealth. Oligarchs arose, who were nearly all Jewish capitalists in the sway of the elite cabal. Crime soared.

Politics was in chaos, coups were attempted, war developed in Chechnya. Yeltsin was drunk most of the time and his authority began to wane. To cut a complicated story short, Vladimir Putin eventually arose to power as the President.

Russia under Christian control again

Putin, despite his critics, was the sort of person needed to fix this mess. He was disciplined, resourceful, nationalistic, educated, tenacious, patient and ruthless. No doubt his stint in the FSB made him alive to the perils of being in charge. Putin set about ridding the country of the oligarchs that were despoiling the people. This took some time and not all were banished. He then set about restoring the economy and improving the status of social conditions. He also restored military capability.

But then something very important happened – Putin became a Russian Orthodox Christian and a very devout one. I cannot pinpoint exactly when this occurred but Putin was baptised and this was photographed. No doubt Putin was a professing believer before this but he really underwent a conversion experience. I have had contact with people that have met him and they say that his conversion is genuine and serious.

From this point the traditional forms of ancient Russia began to reassert themselves. Churches were rebuilt and restored. Priests and deacons were ordained. Christian principles began to undergird laws and state policy. The standard of living in Russia began to improve dramatically. As people became more prosperous, so Putin's popularity soared. This was seen by the Orthodox as a resurrection.

This angered the elite beyond measure. All their plans for Russia had been overturned and Russia was again a Christian state (at least in name). Christian Putin became public enemy number one for the cabal, which became intent on destroying Russia and fragmenting it into a number of controllable territories (Balkanisation).

When Russia intervened in Syria to support Assad against the cabal's (NATO) incursion through funding ISIS and other Jihadis, the elite were even angrier. Putin stopped the cabal's policy of Balkanising Syria to help create Greater Israel and take over the country.

This is the chief reason why the global elite are angry with Putin and hate Russia. A major global country becoming prominently Christian is a thorn in the side of a satanic agenda to take over the world.

The Christian West has utterly capitulated to elite tools, both in politics and religion. Christianity has been so debased in the West that it has no power in prayer to do anything useful. It is riddled with heresy and apostasy. It is Russia that is rising up to become the Christian threat to the elite cabal. This is why so many Western people are flocking to Russia to start a new life.

Russia's huge natural resources means that it is a position to be self-sufficient and not easily destabilised. Russia probably has at least as many natural resources as Africa, but this huge territory is one nation. This makes it very powerful in geo-political terms. At the moment its economy is not in the top level of nations but, unlike Britain and America, it is based on real assets not a service economy. It also has huge gold reserves to back up its currency and its relationship with China makes it even more powerful. Russia is the elite's worst nightmare.

Far from the Dispensationalist idea that Russia is the end-time enemy of God, it is Russia that is becoming God's champion to establish Christian principles.

In the end it will be Israel, under the control of the Rothschilds, that is the real antichristian enemy of God and the world but Russia as its nemesis. As America collapses (its ruin has begun) Rothschild-dominated Israel will begin to take up the reins of world power (at least it will try) but this will be contested by Russia and China.

This is also why world war is on the table. As America collapses and as the global economy crashes the cabal needs a war to hide this from the people and bring in a new order. By demonising Russia all the time the people are being set up to accept world war against Russia. However, growing support for Russia in China, India, Brazil, South Africa and other countries is making this difficult for the elite to do.

Military supremacy

Even with its natural resources, Russia would still not be a serious threat to the cabal, expressed in the UN and NATO – except for the fact that it is now the military superpower of the world in several areas. The elite cannot ignore or overpower this nation in military terms.

Because Putin is so rational, he rebuilt Russia on basic principles. He understood economic theory and set about first to rebuild the economy ruined by the Jewish oligarch pirates and globalist companies. This took years but it was achieved. He sensibly ramped up gold reserves to back up the rouble and avoided debt. He established ties with economic partners, such as China and India.

Having done that, which also ensured rising prosperity for Russian citizens, he then set about restoring Russia's defences. This was necessary because of the offensive attitude of NATO in building military bases along Russia's borders in an encirclement manoeuvre.²⁰ Also the elite control of Ukraine through puppet leaders means a growing threat right on Russia's border.

In WWII it was America that initially supplied the USSR with military infrastructure because the nation was so backwards. Military aid was poured into the USSR to build up its war machine to fight Germany from the East. In time Soviet production lines began to be established based on American investment and knowledge.

This is not the case now.

Due to a thriving economy, Putin was able to direct investment into developing advanced military capabilities in every area. His genius was that he did this by spending 10% of what America spends on research and development of weapon systems. Despite this small investment Russia now has military capabilities that are many years in advance of America's capabilities.

²⁰ By the way, NATO's documentation openly states that it is offensive, such as 'offensive war games' literature utilised in Ukraine. It ceased to be a necessary defensive alliance after 1990 when the Soviet Communist threat was destroyed.

This fact is corroborated by all sound military analysts and journals. No good military analyst doubts this. I will merely mention a few items.

Warplanes

Russian warplanes are the best in the world and generations ahead of the West. In terms of fighter-bombers MiGs and Sukhoi warplanes are superb. Russia has replaced its single role fighters (e.g. Sukhoi Su-27 Flanker and MiG-29) with multi role fighters like the Sukhoi Su-35. Even the Sukhoi Su-34 is far superior to the American F-35 and a Sukhoi Su-57 is now in development. In reality the US relies more upon very old F-16s, and F-18s; which were good aircraft but are now outdated. The F-22 and F-34 are overblown and not in competition with Russian planes; indeed they often break down due to complicated engineering.

However, America has more fighter-interceptors (1,957) compared to Russia's 772. The UK has 119.

EMF weaponry

I watched an American army general give a lecture on this matter who bemoaned the fact that the US Army had not invested properly in microwave weapons. He explained that Russia is way in front of America on this.

For example, in the Syrian conflict American warships were located in the Eastern Mediterranean and some had fired cruise missiles into Syria. On one occasion a Russian jet flew over a US warship whereupon its entire electronic systems failed and the ship was disabled in the water. It took some time for the systems to get up and running again when the jet returned and did it again. Clearly Russia was saying, 'we can incapacitate you any time we want'. This really scared American admirals. Note how the US Navy has been entirely absent in the Ukrainian conflict.

Another example is the Ukraine conflict where Russia crippled strategic military targets, such as with the Android system. In 2015 Russia also cut the power to all of Ukraine.

Tanks

Russia has the most advanced tank systems in the world. Furthermore it has twice as many: Russia has 12,429 while the US has 6,612. Britain is not even in the top 30 of tank numbers.

Submarines

Russia has advanced submarines that are constantly at sea and hold deadly missile systems. These are stealth ships that cannot be tracked. Thus even if Russia could be attacked in a first strike (which it is defended against) the submarines would still be able to take out the enemy country.

Hypersonic missiles

Russia has hypersonic ICBMs – the West does not. These go into space and then return to a programmed target at such hyper speeds that it is impossible to stop them with any weapon or defence system. Forget the Patriot missile; it is useless to stop this. A missile fired from Kaliningrad could hit Berlin in 106 seconds.

One missile system, nicknamed Satan II by the West (RS-28 Sarmat), can carry multiple nuclear warheads (up to 12) that detach close to the target zone, thus spreading destruction over a wide area. It can strike a target 11,200 miles away and travels at a speed of 16,000

mph. Just one of these missiles could wipe out all of the UK or all of Texas. [Why would the UK provoke war with a nation that has such weapons?]

The RT-2PM2 Topol-M (SS-27) missile can penetrate any missile defence system. It can change course in air and space and avoid countermeasures. The 9K720 Iskander-M has a 500 kilometre range and can utilise both ballistic and cruise missiles.

Nuclear

Russia has half of the nuclear weapons in the world. It has 4497 strategic nuclear warheads and 1458 strategic deployed nuclear warheads on 527 intercontinental ballistic missiles, submarines and strategic bombers.

Defence systems

The S-600 missile defence system is the best in the world; it is far superior to the US MM-104 Patriot surface-to-air missile system. Used properly, it can stop any approaching missile. Even the S-400 is a better system.

Ordinary rockets, grads, rpgs

Americans have not fought a real war since, at least, the Korean action. That is, they have picked on nations that cannot effectively fight back (Grenada, Panama, Libya, Iraq, Somalia, and Afghanistan). Even the Vietnam War was largely guerrilla fighting the Vietcong and not the North Vietnamese army. The US has not fought a major battle with an enemy equally equipped, especially a good air force, since WWII.

When American mercenaries joined in the Ukraine conflict they were shocked. Those that were not killed or captured (hundreds were killed very quickly) escaped back to America, sometimes after only four days. They told stories about the relentless firepower of Russian rockets day after day without ceasing. They had never experienced such things and it terrified them.

Russia has huge stocks of such conventional weapons outnumbering other nations. It has 3,391 rocket projectors compared to the US's 1,366. Britain is not even in the top 30 having fewer than Turkmenistan, Greece, and Ethiopia. Russia has the BM-30 Smerch multiple rocket launcher system, the BM-21 Grad system and others. Sea systems include the 3M14 Kalibr long-range precision land attack cruise missile.

Troops

Russian troops are the toughest in the world. They even have their own martial arts techniques that are very effective. American movies like to portray US elite troops as superlative, but these US troops have openly stated that they would not like to take on Russian soldiers.

Russia has one of the largest active-service personnel, air-force, navy fleets and tank forces in the world.

Outlining all the military systems would take several books itemising thousands of pieces of kit. This is just a simple summary to give some idea of superior military power.

The ineffectiveness of Western forces

The truth is that Western military forces are run down. Britain has no effective navy anymore and it has no planes that can land on its new single aircraft carrier. Its army is massively run down and could not stage a proper defence of the nation if called to do so.

Woke politicians have ensured that the armed services are more worried about offending pronouns or Gay rights than fighting an enemy. MOD chiefs have even ensured that witches and Satanists have rights to their rituals within the armed services. Its air force is generations behind Russia's and would be wiped out quickly in a conflict. The Typhoon warplane is the product of a committee and is not in the first rank. Other warplanes are very old and outdated, like the Tornado or Jaguar. The highly useful Harriers (as ground support aircraft) were sold off.

Britain's four Vanguard nuclear submarines are rather pointless. They are old and wearing out and the Trident missile systems, which only ever total about 8 at any one time (often only 4) per boat (the submarines have 16 tubes however), are comparatively useless. British Tridents carry three 100-kiloton warheads but US Tridents carry over 475-kiloton warheads. The cost of this system is £179 bn. It is a system designed for the Cold War and ineffective now. Even Tony Blair said that their utility was non-existent.

America is not much better due to the corruption of the military industrial complex. The massive gifting of equipment to Ukraine, where it was either captured or blown up, has left it depleted which will take years to restore. For example Javelins are now in short supply but restrictions in the parts required means that restoring its supply will take years.

Even its best equipment is far short of its comparable competitor in Russia. Its warplanes are worse; its tanks are worse; its submarines are worse; its missiles less powerful. It does not have an effective EMF capacity.

[Aside: Why has the UK run down its armed forces to this degree? The answer is that it is still tied into the EU Defence Force project whereby a European Army under the control of the EU Commission is being geared up for national security. Britain is to be destroyed as a united kingdom and dissolved (Balkanised) into a series of regions under the domain of the EU. Though we have superficially left the EU politically (tell that to Northern Ireland), we are still connected to the EU federal development plan.]

The one area where the US has a potent threat capability is chemical and bioweapons. There are as many as 300 of these labs spread around the world.²¹ At least a dozen were situated in Georgia and Ukraine until Russia destroyed some of them with thermobaric missiles. The global elite are psychotic enough to use these (they let SARS-Cov-2 loose) which comprise virulent pathogens and chemicals such as Ebola, anthrax, Sarin and such like. Using such things would be a last resort since a change in wind could cause as much damage to your own troops as the enemy's. And who knows what will happen if you let such things out of the bag?

²¹ The US has bioweapons labs in 25 countries funded by the Defense Threat Reduction Agency under a $2.1 billion military programme (Co-operative Biological Engagement programme). One of these is the Lugar Centre in Georgia which has biologists from the US Army Medical Research Unit and private contractors. See US document, 'Agreement between the government of the United States of America and the Government of Georgia on Defense Co-operation'. Here research is conducted on agents like anthrax and tularemia and viruses. The Pentagon produces bio-agents under the protection of diplomatic cover. The private American companies that work at the bio-lab in Tbilisi (capital of Georgia), i.e. CH2M Hill, Battelle and Metabiota. CH2M Hill, have been awarded $341,5 million DTRA contracts under the Pentagon's programme for bio-labs in Georgia, Uganda, Tanzania, Iraq, Afghanistan and South-East Asia. Battelle has been testing aerosol and powder dissemination of toxins like Meliodosis. The Lugar Centre tested biting insects in one department, such as sand flies. Tbilisi has since been infected with biting flies since 2015 and live in bathrooms all year long, which is not normal behaviour for these species. A US Army report of 1981 showed the effectiveness of mosquitoes infected with Yellow Fever to kill 625,000 people ('Evaluation of Entomological Warfare as a potential danger to the US and European NATO nations, US Army, March 1981 report'). We could go on. Those who deny the US bio-weapons facilities are simply ignorant of the facts. America has been working on bio and chemical weapons for decades and has tested some of them on unsuspecting civilians. The UK also performs this research run from Porton Down.

So, in conclusion, the cabal is terrified by Russia. It is not only a huge country with resources, and not only a Christian nation, but it also has advanced military capabilities far beyond anything in the West. It is the elite's worst nightmare.

Conclusion

As usual, the truth is the opposite of what we are being told by the elite-controlled media such as the BBC. Russia is not the West's natural enemy; it should be a Christian partner working for good. In the Napoleonic Wars Russia was Britain's ally. The Romanov family was closely connected to Queen Victoria.

Russia, as it currently stands, is nothing like the USSR. In fact it is not even Communist; the Communist party is represented by a small powerless minority. Russia is a democratic, Christian, capitalist economy that claims to focus on social liberty and personal freedoms. There is a reason why conservative Americans are flocking to live in Russia. Its standard of living is now high, offering virtually free health care to all. Energy is cheap. Farmers can get subsidies; indeed Putin encouraged Afrikaan farmers being persecuted in South Africa to claim free farmland in Siberia; thousands took the offer up. Advocates of free speech have also moved to Russia. Edward Snowden found refuge there when America threatened life imprisonment for exposing government crimes and Canadian independent journalist Eva Bartlett moved to the south of Moscow (and is now on a Ukrainian hit-list).

It is true that, in pursuit of strict Orthodox ethics, some groups have less freedom – such as homosexuals and evangelical churches are frowned upon because aberrant Pentecostal groups flocked there in the past to take advantage of social confusion and spread apostate views. Sadly, evangelicalism was tarred with this brush. Transgenderism would also not be tolerated in public. These groups are not persecuted, but they have restrictions placed on them. This is the only downside to social liberty that I know of.

The truth is that the West is far more draconian in restrictions to free speech and free thinking. Woke ideas have captured all the institutions which not only discriminate against but persecute individualistic commentators not submitting to GroupThink. People have been jailed for preaching the Gospel or alleged hate speech. People have lost their jobs for not towing the party line on gender. Teachers have been vilified just for teaching their subject, as one classics professor recently discovered (its White supremacy!).

So, there is no reason for Western people to hate Russia or demonise President Putin. This narrative is a fabrication of the elite cabal that seeks to control your thinking. Resist it and be free.

Scripture quotations are from The New King James Version
© Thomas Nelson 1982

Paul Fahy Copyright © 2022
Understanding Ministries
<http://www.understanding-ministries.com>